Full-Stack Software Developer
18 February 2022

At FlowActive, we are passionate technologists seeking the best and brightest engineers to join our team in pursuit of making exciting new software and IoT devices.

Do you want to work with start-ups and growth companies?

Working with start-ups and growth companies is exciting. It also means that we need to respond quickly to changes in technical challenges, strategic direction, make real-time (and documented) improvements, or take advantage of time-sensitive opportunities. Our remote and open office environment is by design and reflects the shared desire to foster fresh thinking and fast-paced collaboration. Top candidates must have the ability to take the lead on key pieces of projects, as well as to roll up their sleeves to work with team members on important goals. We are a team that makes things happen.

The Role

This position works with the engineering, sales, production and software development teams. We want people who can solve problems as they recognize them and communicate with the team in a timely manner. Your responsibilities include the following.
1. Develop, test, and maintain scalable backend infrastructure, APIs, and databases.
2. Work with the team to understand customer issues and propose a solution.
3. Support development, test, and maintenance of customer facing applications, alerts and insights.
4. Map solutions into a process and produce appropriate technical or business documentation.
5. Demonstrated work or project experience in all or some:
    a. Amazon Web Services (AWS)
    b. Python
    c. REST APIs
    d. SQL and Relational Databases
    e. Object Oriented Programming
    f. ReactJS/React Native
    g. HTML5/CSS3

This is a full-time position. It will start in March 2022. The position is open until filled. To apply, contact Ms. Kathy Hanlon, HR Director, at hr@flowactive.com.
